Democratic Keynote Sounded by Temporary Chairman Glynn.

DEFENDS NEUTRALITY POLICY

Advocates Defense Preparedness and Flouts Militarism Bugaboo-Discusses Domestic Policies and Eulogizes Mr. Wilson.

St. Louis, Mo., June 14.-Following is a condensed version of the address delivered at the opening of the Demo cratic national convention today by Temporary Chairman Martin H. Glynn, former governor of New York. Gentlemen of the Convention: The Democratic party, in this convention assembled, meets to perform a duty. not to itself but to the nation.

We have entered this hall as Demo crats; we shall deliberate and act here as Americans.

If in this great crisis that now confronts the nation, the American people falter, their apostasy will be visited upon the descendants of their children's children.

Disregarding the divisions that make one man a Tory and another a Whig. one man a Republican and another a Democrat, Americans will cast aside the tinsel of party emblems.

From the great, pulsing heart of the nation will come a patriot command to crush partisanship and rebuke whatever is mean or blind.

And when, a century from now, America's children come to read our history, we pray God that the history we are about to make may prove an inspiration to their loyalty.

In the attainment of this hope, the utterance of this prayer we who gather here today have a responsibility that sobers our emotions as it strengthens our resolutions.

For two years the world has been afire. That fire still burns, but thus far the United States has held the flame at bay.

Must Support Principles.

What the people of the United States must determine through their suffrage is whether the principles that have been asserted as our national pollcy shall be indorsed or withdrawn. This is the paramount issue.

For 200 years neutrality was a theory; America made it a fact. To win this priceless right of neutrality this nation had to undergo a long and painful struggle.

Where is the American hardy enough to challenge a policy so firmly fixed in the nation's traditions?

The president of the United States stands today where stood the men who made America and who saved America and made American neutrality a national creed.

If Washington was right, if Jefferson was right, if Hamilton was right, if Lincoln was right, then the president of the United States is right today; if the Republican leaders are right then Lincoln was wrong and Jefferson was wrong and Hamilton was wrong and Washington was

In all there is no other national policy that has justified itself so completely and entirely as the American policy of neutrality and isolation from the quarrels of European powers.

Neutral Rights Asserted.

No American who knows the facts can honestly oppose or criticise the policy of neutrality which the present Democratic administration has pursued.

America's doctrine of neutrality never meant that this nation must rush headlong into war at the first invasion of its neutral rights. This does not mean that America will not resort to war when all other means of protecting its neutral rights have failed, but it does mean that America will exhaust every peaceful means of protecting those rights before it takes the step from which there is no appeal.

The issue, raised by our opponents, of the vigor with which our neutrality has been enforced is a comparative issue which can be decided only by comparative results.

When Grant was president, during the war between Spain and the Span ish West Indies, a Spanish gunboat seized the vessel Virginius flying the American flag and a Spanish commandant in cold blood shot the captain of the Virginius, 26 of the crew and 16 of the passengers. But we didn't go to war. Grant settled our troubles by negotiation. When Benjamin Harrison was president the people of Chili conceived a violent dislike to the United States. One junior officer from the United States warship Baltimore was killed outright in the streets of Valparaiso and 16 of our sailors wound-

But we didn't go to war. Harrison settled our troubles by negotiation. More Historical Facts.

When Lincoln was president this country's rights were violated on every side. England, Russia, France and Spain were guilty of flagrant vio-Intions.

But we didn't go to war. Pierce ettled our troubles by negotiation. When Van Buren was president a detachment of Canadian militia, during the internal troubles in Canada, poarded the U.S. ship Carolina in the American waters of Niagara river, killed an American member of the crew, fired the ship and sent her adrift over Niagara Falls. But we didn't go to war. Van Buren settled our troubles by negotiation When Jefferson was president Eng-and seized hundreds of our ships and Napoleon hundreds more. But we didn't go to war. Jefferson settled our troubles by negotiation.

When Adams was president France preyed upon our commerce until she had piled up in our state department charges of over 2,300 violations of neutrality's law. But we didn't go to war. Adams settled our troubles by negotiation. When Washington was president and, "neutrality" first declared, war convulsed Europe. England and France seized 400 of our ships and confiscated millions of dollars' worth of our property. But we didn't go to war. Washington settled our troubles by negotiation.

In his policy of peaceful negotiations today the president of the United States follows the example set him by the greatest presidents the Democratic party and the greatest presidents the Republican party ever gave this nation.

Policy of Negotiation. "To maintain our national honor by peace if we can, by war if we must,' is the motto of the president of the United States.

But before submitting to the chance and misery of war, true statesman that he is, he proposes to put the reason and justice of negotiation to the test. But, say our critics, this policy sat isfies no one. They mean it does not satisfy those who would map out a new and untried course for this nation to pursue,

Temporary Chairman Glynn,

but they forget it does satisfy those who believe the United States should live up to the principles it has professed for a century and more.

National Honor. In desperation for a slogan our op-

Some Preparedness Ideas. The genius of this country is for peace. There is no danger of militarism.

We have built our greatness on the resources of nature and the peaceful toil of our people

With us war has never been choice, it has always been a fate. Like the old Mohawk chief who loved peace, we would like to throw the tomahawk of war so high in the sky that no man's hand could ever pull it down. But when some other tribe among the races of men sends us a bundle of arrows wrapped in any and all of these standards, this the skin of a rattlesnake, we want to be in a position to send that rattlesnake's skin back stuffed with powder and with ball.

We deprecate the compulsion but we recognize the need of the policeman on the beat, the safe in the bank and the watchdog on the farm. The war across the seas has brought home to us the fear that so long as men are men and nations nations, wars will continue. For these reasons this administra tion has done more for our army and our navy than any administration in our history. The Democratic party advocates and seeks preparedness, but it is preparedness for defense, not preparedness for aggression. Our National Soul.

These, then, are the principles that have been asserted and followed by the president of the United States during the past two years-that the United States shall not embroil it- with the tale of Europe's war, one self in European strife, that the United States shall endeavor to maintain friendly and cordial relations with every other nation and that the United States shall firmly assert and maingave these representatives of Great tain and be prepared to assert and dent to be every belligerent.

This convention must make it plain that all divisions among the American people stop at the ocean's edge. Over and above every other reason that the nation may have for upholding its president, is the necessity of proving to the world that we are a united people.

So long as the other nations of the earth realize that the millions under America's flag think as one, believe as one and act as one in the face of foreign war, we shall be free from foreign intrigue, and all that it entails. High above every other issue that this convention offers to the American people we must therefore write a vindication of American loyalty.

Our Domestic Policies. Four years ago the people of this country entrusted their government to a man and to a party who profinised that they would liberate the na tion from the chains of industrial tyranny, who pledged themselves to break down the barriers behind which special privilege sat entrenched; who engaged themselves to emancipate business, to throw wide the gate of lawful enterprise, to restore to the men and women of America the paths of progress which had been choked and blocked by long years of invisible government.

That promise has been kent: that pledge has been redeemed. We must content ourselves here with a brief consideration of the great landmarks which chart the change from government for the fortunate few to an evenhanded government in the interest of all.

The first of these is the federal reserve act which freed the business man and the farmer from the financial domination of the money changers and lifted the menace of panic from our industrial life.

In the same spirit and with the same motive that inspired the federal reserve act this administration has devoted itself to the stimulation of American industry, agriculture and trade through all the agencies of gov-

Berlin, Germany-The American ambassador, James W. Gerard, has repudiated an interview recently attributed to him on the subject of President Wilson's peace efforts, the Overseas News Agency says. The ambassador is quoted as asserting that Count Friedrich von Westarp conservative leader in the Reichstag, desired dew published some time ago, but that the ambassador declined.

According to the news agency, manuscript containing a copy of the spurious interview was submitted to Mr. Gerard with the idea that it was to have been published in the National Zeltung, but the ambassador refused to sanction it, declaring it was untrue.

The National Zeitung published what was represented to be an interview with Mr. Gerard, which was referred to in a cable dispatch from Berlin as bearing on its face indications of unauthenticity. The ambassador was quoted as saying he believed peace was only a few months off and as referring to President Wilson's peace utterances in connection with the presidential campaign.
